Protests in USA and the World Against Racism

What is Black Lives Matter?

- Black Lives Matter is a movement which protests against racism and unfair treatment of Black people in the US and across the world.
- It was founded in 2013 in the US.

There have been protests in many cities across the world. In the US, UK and many other places, people are speaking out against racism.

These protests began in Minneapolis, a city in the United States of America, after the death of a Black man called George Floyd.

George Floyd died after he was stopped by police officers. One police officer knelt on his neck. The police officers who were involved with his death have lost their jobs. One of them has been charged with murder while the others also face criminal charges.

The death of George Floyd has led many people to protest against the unfair treatment of Black people, particularly by the police and the justice system.
